Living room The coffee table's pebble-smooth honed marble top forms a compelling contrast with the heavily textured Belgian linen on the Verellen sofas.

Living room The coffee table is one of Renee Levow's favorite pieces. The mirror above the mantel reflects the room's calm atmosphere.

Porch Sunlight streams through the semi-sheer drapes and onto the handsome Brazilian ipe wood deck. The outdoor sofa and chairs are from RH, and the sconces are from Circa Lighting.

Homeowners Alan and Renee Levow on a walkway through the marshes that surround their home in South Carolina's Lowcountry.

Preceding pages Italian architect Andrea Palladio's influence is evident in the home's exterior details, such as the peaked roofs.

Master bedroom Striped bed curtains relax a modern metallic-finish canopy bed from Oly. A chevron-patterned rug laid over a sisal rug adds a second layer of texture and comfort.

Guest bedroom Two built-in beds in a third-level loft room are outfitted with heavy ropes that create the playful illusion of swinging beds.

Pool area An elevated deck is large enough to accommodate sunbathers. The artisan-painted bench is one of the few items the family moved from their previous Florida home.
