STYLISH STRATEGIES
FOR A CLUTTER-FREE
KITCHEN AND BATH

Jim Dove Kitchen

Designing with the intention of hosting a large group, Jim Dove made sure to equip the kitchen with plenty of cooktops and counter space. "I wanted guests to experience a sense of openness and ease," he says. The bright, airy room boasts an original brick wall, white cabinetry, and stainless steel appliances. Water views reflect beautifully off the double islands with mirrored ends and chinoiserie fretwork. The island and bar feature chrome faucets and sinks by Moen. Overhead, hanging lanterns provide atmospheric light for evening entertaining.

Lauren Guarcello Guest Suite

When formulating her design concept, Lauren Guarcello envisioned the guest bedroom as belonging to a grown woman who occasionally returns to her childhood home. "It's a mix of playful colors, graphic elements, and traditional coastal design," she says. Bed draperies with contrasting trim inject tailored sophistication while the navy walls and a sisal area rug echo the seaside surroundings. Near the fireplace, a pink wing chair, a pair of benches, and a quatrefoil mirror flaunt feminine curves. A mirrored nightstand and a sumptuous sheepskin rug complete the glamorous retreat.

Joe Parisi & Donna Martin Third Floor Bedroom & Bath

In a home with plenty of bedrooms, designers Joe Parisi and Donna Martin decided to reimagine the third floor space as a "retreat for a Renaissance man." Sporting a cathedral ceiling and timeless trusses, the well-appointed office area is ideal for rest and rejuvenation. A tufted daybed nestled near a round, antique-gear coffee table invites an afternoon nap. Bookshelves display tomes, sculptures, and other art. In the bath, wall panels painted white mimic the grooves found on interior doors. The marble vanity with waterfall side and ceramic sink features a chrome faucet from Moen.

Master bath Scalloped tile from Ann Sacks blends harmoniously with botanical-inspired wallpaper from Pierre Frey. Sconces are from Circa Lighting.

Guest bedroom The mix continues—Pierre Frey's "Erevan" wallpaper coordinates with embroidered bedding by ABC Carpet & Home, a throw pillow from Tulu, and a hand-woven alpaca throw from Studio Four.

Daughter's room Wallpaper by Quadrille sets a sweet tone in partnership with a Missoni striped rug and the Tulu upholstery on the daybed from Avery Boardman. The lamps are by Stray Dog Designs.
